Comelec to disqualify 40 more party-listers

By Jocelyn R. Uy and Gil C. Cabacungan

CRACKING down on sham organizations seeking congressional seats, the Commission on Elections (Comelec) yesterday dropped Ako Bicol and 12 other party-list groups from the 2013 midterm balloting.

In a six-page resolution, the Comelec en banc ruled that Ako Bicol, the topnotcher in the 2010 party-list race, could not participate in next year's elections for failure to pass strict scrutiny "through the lens" of existing laws and jurisprudence governing the party-list system.

"Ako Bicol does not represent or seek to uplift a marginalized and underrepresented sector within the contemplation of the party-list system," the Comelec stated.

The decision against these organizations will be promulgated today, said Comelec Chair Sixto Brillantes Jr., adding that the commission was looking at a total of 38 to 40 groups, which will lose their accreditation in

Gov't allays fears of Bangsamoro becoming an Islamic state

WAR AND PEACE Heavily armed Moro rebels gather in their camp in a village in Mamasapano, Maguindanao province. The government and the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF) have announced a framework agreement aimed at settling the 40-year guerrilla war in Mindanao and the Sulu archipelago.

By Philip C. Tubeza and Michael Lim Ubac

THE CHIEF government negotiator on Tuesday sought to ease fears that the creation of a new autonomous Muslim homeland in Mindanao could lead to the rise of an Islamic state within the Philippines.

Marvic Leonen, head of the government panel negotiating peace with the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF), said at a briefing for Inquirer editors and reporters that the creation of Bangsamoro would respect the "separation of Church and State."

President Aquino on Sunday announced a preliminary agreement between the government and the MILF to end a decades-long Muslim insurgency in Mindanao with the establishment of Bangsamoro, which would replace the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM).

The establishment of Bangsamoro would also mean recognition of the Moro identity, said the Presidential Adviser on the Peace Process Teresita Quintos-Deles.

Following the announcement of the preliminary agreement on Sunday, she said, a group of Bangsamoro proposed a campaign called "Bangsamoro Ako, Pilipino."

"It is a way to promote the Moro identity as part of the Filipino," Deles said, adding that

Chief Moro negotiator sheds tears for peace

By Michael Lim Ubac

AFTER FIGHTING for the independence of the Bangsamoro for 40 years, Mohagher Iqbal shed tears.

That moment was not captured on camera but forever etched in the memory of lead government peace negotiator Marvic Leonen, who made the disclosure during a briefing on the preliminary peace agreement for Inquirer editors and reporters on Tuesday.

Iqbal, chair of the peace panel of the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF), is Leonen's counterpart in the peace talks brokered by Malaysia.

Both panels were in Kuala Lumpur on Sunday when President Aquino, in a nationally televised announcement attended by his entire Cabinet, announced the approval of the "framework agreement" that would lead to the creation of a new autonomous region in Mindanao that would be home to the Bangsamoro.

While the President was addressing the nation, "Iqbal was in tears," Leonen said.

"His two companions were struggling not to show" [their emotion], Leonen said.

But the two MILF negotiators were also fighting back tears.

Sin tax advocates: This is a Recto 'Morris' report

By Norman Bordadora and Tina G. Santos

DID SMOKE get in his eyes, making him cry a watered-down sin tax reform bill?

Finance Secretary Cesar Purisima and Health Secretary Enrique Ona, along with civil society groups, expressed disappointment with Sen. Ralph Recto's ways and means committee report yesterday on the Senate version of the bill raising hefty taxes on tobacco, beer and other alcoholic drinks.

In his sponsorship speech, Recto presented what he called a "reasonable, realistic and responsible" rendering of the sin tax bill that aims to generate

RAM colonel wanted for Olalia murder surrenders

By Nikko Dizon

ONE OF the leaders of an aborted coup that led to the 1986 Edsa People Power Revolution has surrendered in connection with the celebrated murders of labor leader Rolando Olalia and his driver as the nation grappled with unrest in the military that tumultuous year, authorities said yesterday.

Retired Lt. Col. Eduardo "Red" Kapunan, a prominent officer of the Reform the Armed Forces Movement (RAM) formed in the final years of the Ferdinand Marcos regime, has been in the custody of the Philippine Army since Saturday, according to its commander, Lt. Gen. Emmanuel Bautista.

Human rights lawyer Edre Olalia, a cousin of the slain labor leader, said he learned about Kapunan's surrender during a hearing yesterday at Antipolo City Regional Trial Court Branch 28 involving Sgt. Desiderio Perez, one of the 13 military men accused in the murders.

The murders of Olalia and his driver, Leonor Alay-ay, were among the more celebrated

Aligned with the Department's objective to mobilize, strengthen, and empower the regional and national consumer organizations (COs) in the country, this year's Consumer Welfare Month (CWM) Celebration will be highlighted by the holding of the National Assembly of Consumer Organizations on October 11 at the 2nd Level Function Room 3, SMX Convention Center, Seashell Lane Mall of Asia Complex, Pasay City.

Over 80 leaders and members of various consumer groups nationwide are expected to attend the assembly, which will be held right after the opening ceremony where 500 guests from the business, consumer and government sectors are expected to attend.

Three possible areas of partnership will be discussed in the assembly: 1) Information and Education, 2) Monitoring and Enforcement, and 3) Policy. [illegible]
